

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction	p. 3
Introductory essay
Aldo Galli – In the Lands of Marble. A viaticum and some notes	p. 5
Memoirs
Antonio Bartelletti – Pietrasanta and (its) Masters of Marble (1255-1406)	p. 19
Laura Cavazzini – Notes for the European fortune of Apuan marble in the Gothic age	p. 45
Andrea Tenerini – The sculptors in the Pardini family of Pietrasanta: unresolved issues and study hypotheses	p. 63
Maria Falcone – Andrea da Ciona, Filippo Solari, Giovanni da Campione and Iacopo da Barchino in Genoa: the eucharistic custody of the Cathedral	p. 83
Antonio Bartelletti, Alessia Amorfini, Emma Cantisani, Fabio Fratini – Marble inlays and panels in the Cathedral of Lucca and the Duomo of Pietrasanta in the Civitali period	p. 117
Alessandra Talignani – Alberto Maffioli, architect and sculptor from Carrara between the quarries and the Po valley	p. 137
Michela Zurla – A florentine in the “Lands of Marble”: Donato Benti between Genoa and Pietrasanta	p. 165
Marco Campigli – The spanish apartment. Giovanni de’ Rossi in the workshop of Bartolomé Ordóñez	p. 197
Fernando Loffredo – Nomen Omen: La Fuente de Génova of Malaga, its possible travels and the workshop of Gian Giacomo and Guglielmo della Porta	p. 215
Caterina Rapetti – “...tucta la sua diligentia mecterà in fare decti luoghi utili et a decti luoghi e marmi dare riputazione et crescere fama...”. Michelangelo in Pietrasanta	p. 235
In the Lands of Marble: the Conference and 2013 activities	p. 251
Index of names	p. 255